qualified as Constable in the Oakland district, with James M. Lewis as his security.

Inventory of the estate of Wm. Trigg filed for record.

tavern at Strab's garden.

The following settled accounts were filed and continued thirty days for exceptions: J.
H. Smysier, guardian of Sallie C. and cy's children, and George Swope, guardian of Julia Maddox.

tor, with the will annexed, of John Mohr; George Diemer security.

The estate of John Gwathmey is committed to the sheriff for administration.

rine Mayers, signed with three marks or crosses, than XXX, no name attended, was presented and probate refused.

John Roberts, Deputy Assessor for the Western District of the county, returned his Bridget Murphy selected Philip Murphy as her guardian, who gave bond with John Fitzgibbon his security.

Woods' Theatre.—A full and fashionable audience assembled here last evening to witness the celebrated Zavislawski Troupe, and by long and hearty applause testified their appreciation of their undoubted merit.

The entire troupe is par excellence—the best we have had in this city for many years—and where all are so good it is hard to particularize; yet, we cannot but speak in terms of highest praise of the graceful and elegant dancing of Mlle Christine, while her expressive pantomime in the French spy warrants us in saying that she is the best of many representatives of that character. But what shall we say of the charming, wonderful and graceful petite Alice Zavislawski? She must be seen to be appreciated. Suffice it to say that she is our best ideal of the "poetry of motion." The rest of the troupe acquitted themselves admirably, and Mr. Nickerson as the "Old Guard" fully sustained his reputation as an artist of the first order. The bill for this evening is well selected, consisting of a domestic drama, entitled the "Post Boy," with Nickerson as Joe Sprout; a grand ballet d'action, and the ballet of "Les Villagers," by the Zavislawski troupe. A crowded house is inevitable.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—Maggie Mitchell received last evening by a large, enthusiastic and fashionable audience at the Louisville theatre. Every available seat was filled, and the private boxes gave signs of vigorous life.
The representation was the beautiful play of "Little Borefoot," a transcription from the German, and the admirable personation of "Amey" was really a treat. It will be repeated to-night, and all those who desire to pass a pleasant evening should not fail to see the cleverest little actress of the day in this pretty place.

SHOOTING.—Yesterday a river chub, who was dining at the National Hotel, thought that the waiters ought to "fly for their lives," at his bidding. Knowing that the gentleman was not used to stepping at first-class hotels, the steward undertook to say something to him, when he drew a pistol and fired at him. The steward, taking good care not to hit any one, Officer Kirkpatrick put him in jail to consider the idea of shooting at an American citizen of African descent.

SOUTHWARD BOUND.—Captain Letcher, of the Twelfth Kentucky, will leave for Marshall, Tenn., to-day, in charge of the following ladies, whose husbands are in arms against the government, to be sent South: Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Byrne (wife of the rebel Captain Ed.
Byrne), Mrs. Hawkins (wife of Col. H. C. S.
A.), Mrs. Gilbreth and daughter, and the wife of the notorious rebel Captain Jack Allen.

We learn that an affray occurred in New Albany Sunday afternoon between two white men and two negroes. One of the white men was killed with a knife, and the other white man was so dangerously stabbed that it was thought he could not recover. We will endeavor to learn the particulars and the names of the parties.

Four of the Centerville rioters have been released by Gen. Hascall, upon giving bond to act as becomes good and orderly citizens during the war. Three others are still held, two of whom are deserters.

Lieutenant Basil Hobbs, has been ordered to report himself to Col. S. Fry at Camp Dick Robinson. He has been assigned to duty on General Fry's staff, and leaves today.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—The large foundry and machine shop of Mr. Joseph Greer, at Terre Haute, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday night. The loss is very heavy and is but partially covered by insurance.

J. P. Stockton, company D, Fifth Ky., John A. Richery, company G, Twenty-first Ky., and James H. Sapp, company K, Seventh Ky., died in the hospitals in Nashville recently.

We learn that the officers and men belonging to the Thirtieth Kentucky Regiment, now stationed at Green River, are in fine health and good spirits. Boys, long may you wait!

THANKS.—We tip our hat to the handsome young lady who sent us the bouquet yesterday.
May it be, like her own, never fade.

Quite a number of new box-cars are being received for the use of the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

The Cincinnati Enquirer credits our article on the "U. S. Bank Question" to the Saint Louis Democrat. All a mistake.

Thirteen rebel prisoners were received last evening from Munfordville.

There were very few military or civil arrests in the city yesterday.

THE PICNIC ON SATURDAY.—At this season of the year, while the flowers are blooming and all nature is putting on its loveliest garb, picnic excursions are always frequent in the neighborhood of Louisville. The invigorating air of spring and the joyous sunlight bring out the beauty and cheerfulness of the city, and in some lovely retreat, they engage in a dance upon the green and a dinner gotten up in the genuine style of Kentucky hospitality.

Such was the character of the picnic excursion on Saturday last to the beautiful and majestic woods of Major Bray, who resides about five miles distant from this city. The occasion was, indeed, a most delightful one, excepting the clouds of dust created by the numerous vehicles on the turnpike tending from the city to the place of enjoyment.

In the overhanging woodland the sunlight was mellowed just where nature seems to have made arrangement for a pleasure-group of "fair women and brave men." It was an old-fashioned picnic, attended by all the hospitality and cheerfulness of early days.

Yet, the young ladies, in the beauty and sweetness of their youth, were the fairest illustrations of our Kentucky society. The day was chiefly consumed in dancing, which presented truly a brilliant spectacle in conjunction with the rare loveliness of nature all blooming round the scene.

We love these picnic excursions. They do so much to bring out the bright features of our social circles. They give life and bound to boyhood and girlhood.

On Friday next another picnic will take place not many miles from this city. We trust that it will be as brilliant and joyous as that at Major Bray's on Saturday last.

MURDER IN NEW ALBANY.—On Sunday evening Richard Blatter, Patrick Quirk, and another person, whose name we did not learn, all white men, were standing in front of a house on Upper Fifth street, New Albany, talking.
Twenty five or thirty yards distant from where they were standing, and on the same side of the street, resided a negro named Thomas Cordell, a fireman on the steamer Big Gray Eagle.
Cordell was standing in his gateway, or rather behind the gate-post, listening, as is alleged, to the conversation of the white men. They discovered him, and approaching him, they told him that he was standing there for listening. He replied that he was not listening, but upon his own premises. They ordered him into the house, where he struck at them with a knife several times, killing Quirk and wounding Blatter.

The Ledger of yesterday says: Quite an excitement prevails in the city in consequence of the killing and stabbing affair last night, and a mob of negroes is frequently seen prowling about the city.

There is no occasion for a mob, as the law will deal promptly with the case. The grand jury has been called to meet to-morrow by Judge Bicknell to investigate the affair, and by Wednesday evening at farthest Judge B. will have tried the case upon the finding of that body; and if Cordell is guilty of murder he will be certainly be hanged as a new felon.

Let our city be again disgraced by a mob. The negro is a lawless creature, and he will be upon his own premises. They ordered him
into the house, where he struck at them with
a knife several times, killing Quirk and
wounding Blatter.
